

Denise Renner is an anointed minister, a mentor to women, an author, and a classically trained vocalist. Alongside her husband Rick Renner, Denise spent years ministering in the U.S. before moving in 1991 with their family to the former Soviet Union, where they began their international ministry.

Since that time, Rick and Denise have proclaimed the Gospel throughout the vast region of the former USSR. Their ministry reaches a potential audience of millions in both hemispheres of the world via television, satellite, and the Internet. Thousands of women have been strengthened, mentored, and trained in Denise's ministry to women of all ages.

Rick and Denise reside in Moscow, where together they founded the Moscow Good News Church in 2000 and help lead the church today with their son and daughter-in-law, Paul and Polina Renner. Meanwhile, whether in historic concert halls, local churches, or her public speaking ministry, Denise still regularly ministers in music, using her remarkably gifted voice to bring Christ's burden-destroying anointing to those in need of His touch.
